Detailed description: This diagram illustrates the addition of two numbers on a grid. The top row contains the digits 'u', 'k', 'h', 'd', 'a', 'u', 'd', 'c', 'm'. Below this, a grid of 4 rows and 8 columns is shown. The first two rows are empty. The third row is highlighted in yellow. The fourth row is empty. Vertical red lines are drawn between the 'k' and 'h' columns, and between the 'u' and 'd' columns. Small black dots are placed at the intersections of these lines with the horizontal grid lines. Arrows point from the bottom of the grid up to the top of the yellow row, indicating the direction of the addition process.
